

Abstract of the Disclosure

An isolated DNA molecule includes a gene encoding an enzyme protein which has an NADH dependent L-xylulose reductase activity. The isolated DNA molecular may be included in a vector, and a genetically modified microorganism transformed by such vector. The genetically modified microorganisms are utilized to produce fermentation products.